Short description

Kristianstad University was founded in 1977, but we can trace our roots way back for teacher's training (1835), nurses (1893) and engineers (1912).

Programmes and courses are offered in Humanities, Social, Natural, Behavioural and Health Sciences, Business Administration, Computer Science and Engineering.

Our campus is created from the idea that a student shall have access to modern information technology, inspiring meeting places and good services. We offer a highly qualified faculty in a friendly atmosphere. Our new and former students are our most valuable resource.

Internationalisation is an issue of importance at Kristianstad University, whether it involves Swedish students going abroad or international students studying here. We also provide all students with an international working perspective at Campus.

We are linked with partner universities all over the world. At the same time we co-operate extensively with the local community.
